

Quarantine Compact of Gloamreach: Writ of the Marsh-Breaker

Let this instrument be read beneath shuttered lamps and entered into the sealed book of Gloamreach.

I, the undersigned Outrider, Thessaly Coldwater, being a minor figure of the Ashen Era, acknowledge that I was born in 338 AS. No canonical physical features are established for Thessaly Coldwater; my visual identity is limited to my role as an Outrider. No canonical temperament is established for Thessaly Coldwater. Therefore, let neither scar, stature, mood, nor manner be supplied against me as evidence. I undertake only what is written below.

I, Morwenna Vosgard, being a minor character and serving as a Sapper, acknowledge that I was born in 296 AS. No physical features are recorded for Morwenna Vosgard; her visual identity is associated with the work of a Sapper. No temperament is recorded for Morwenna Vosgard. Let the charge of this compact rest upon her tools and sworn labor, not upon tales of her face or disposition.

The object of this compact is the Marsh Revenant. It is a siege-breaker, defined by its ability to shatter fortified resistance. It is a revenant of stagnant, hostile ground whose presence turns defense into desperation. It appears as a corpse-like figure burdened with marsh-wet decay and the grim solidity of a breaker of walls. It projects tireless, impersonal hostility, advancing with the inevitability of the dead.

Thessaly Coldwater shall bear warning, measure the approaches, and carry notice where an Outrider may pass. Morwenna Vosgard shall set, clear, and judge such works as belong to a Sapper. Neither party shall call the Marsh Revenant a beast fit for bargaining, mercy, or delay. Its advance shall be treated as hostile until the quarantine is lifted by lawful word.

The place protected by this compact is Gloamreach, which lies on the Pale Coast and is a core location with a garrison of 2,483. Its status is quarantined, setting it apart from the surrounding coast. Gloamreach bears the pallid, bleak visual character of the Pale Coast and the shadowed identity carried by its name. It feels sealed-off and ominous, defined by isolation and guarded uncertainty. Its founded year is 286 AS; I state this plainly, and no contrary reckoning shall trouble this writ.

This compact binds the named parties to vigilance, labor, and silence concerning the sealed ways of Gloamreach. Any breach shall be counted against the breacher before the walls, the garrison, and the dead.

Marked by: Thessaly Coldwater, Outrider Morwenna Vosgard, Sapper