

Quartermaster Ledger: Fenspire Garrison

Station: Fenspire Reach: Gloaming Reach Classification: Core location Founded: 57 AS Status: Garrisoned Garrison: 3,742

Article	Condition	Quartermaster's Entry
Fortification	Standing	Fenspire remains a hard silhouette against the dim character of the Gloaming Reach. Its stark spire rises above the surrounding gloom and serves as the station's clearest mark.
Barracks	Occupied	Permanent military occupation governs the atmosphere. Passage, storage, and issue are conducted beneath disciplined vigilance. Idle hands are treated as a danger to be corrected.
Storehouses	Held	Stores are to be kept dry, sealed, and accounted for. No article leaves custody without proper mark and witness. The Reach has a talent for swallowing what is poorly watched.
Armament	Serviceable	Arms remain subject to inspection before issue and after return. A weapon that rests too long grows faithless; a weapon that is neglected grows faithless sooner.
Rations	Reserved	Rations are to be apportioned according to the garrison's recorded strength. Waste is not mercy, and hoarding is not prudence. Both invite hunger when the roads fail.
Water	Guarded	Water is to be kept apart from refuse, ash, and all unclean vessels. The dim air of the Gloaming Reach is no excuse for careless handling.
Clothing	Issued by need	Torn cloth is not to be discarded where it may be mended. Wet wool, cracked leather, and damaged fastenings are to be presented for judgment rather than hidden beneath a cloak.
Watch provisions	Maintained	The watch is to receive what permits vigilance: fuel, dry covering, and sufficient food. A sentry left cold becomes inattentive; an inattentive sentry makes a breach of every gate.
Record books	Under seal	Entries are to be made plainly. Alterations without explanation are treated as theft of certainty, whether or not an article has vanished.

General demeanor	Disciplined vigilance	Fenspire projects disciplined vigilance. Its atmosphere is shaped by permanent military occupation, and every quartermaster's mark must match that severity.
